

"MY BOY NOT HARMED YET"—MRS. TUCKER

Mother Declares Nothing Has Been Brought Out Thus Far That Will Hurt Her Son's Chance of Acquittal.

By Mrs. Lucy A. Tucker, Mother of Charles Louis Tucker.

Written Exclusively for the Boston American.

WHEN the court adjourned on Saturday and my son's attorney came into the room where Mr. Tucker and I were seated to tell us that we could go home until Monday morning, I could hardly realize that one week of this trial, which means more to us than any other event of our whole lives, was really over.

It has passed like a dream to me—an awful, hideous dream—but not a reality.

At times I have almost had to pinch myself to make sure that it was really I who was sitting there, hearing all those dreadful suspicions cast on my son.

It seemed to me that it must be some other woman and that I had gone away somewhere.

The first day of the trial Louis was furloughed with us. It was the first night which his father and brother and I had spent with him in nearly a year, and in spite of all the trying circumstances we all enjoyed that night together, for it seemed as though we had our family circle once more complete, and it gave us an insight into the reason when Louis comes home to us again.

There Were More Tears Than Laughter.

Still there were more tears than laughter at that moment, for it brought to this whole affair so vividly before us.

It was expected that the morning moving should be a feature of each day, but it was decided that it was not best.

Louis needs the hour for rest. He likes the walk across the yard and the street, for it gives him a breath of fresh air, which he longs for.

The strain of sitting so quiet and paying such strict attention to everything is great, and the walk gives him a little relaxation.

I am satisfied with the doing of the first week.

I cannot see where Louis has been harmed by what has been told.

I think Mr. James Vahy's handling of the case has been splendid. He is as earnest and sincere and courteous.

Of course it is needless for me to say that my faith is unshaken.

Only His Own Words Would Convince Her.

Nothing but my son's own words would ever make me believe that he was in any way connected with this dreadful tragedy.

I think that this week I shall take some needless time East Cambridge with me, so I can have my hands employed. As a housekeeper I lead such a busy life that it is hard for me to sit all day waiting day after day.

I try each day to take some little remembrance to Louis, or to have him come of his own accord to tell him what shall make the day a little brighter for him.

All the officials at the jail are so kind to him, and they have been extremely courteous to all of us.

Of course I hope that as soon as the trial is over I shall never have to go to that place again, but I shall never forget the consideration which has been shown me.

Even now I cannot see what real chain of circumstances has brought this thing about.

Hopes the Medical Testimony Is Finished.

I hope that the medical testimony is finished forever. It was dreadful.

The testimony of the handwriting experts, they tell me, is not nearly so terrible.

How can it be? The talk of wounds and knives and the sight of blood, stained clothes and skeletons is more dreadful than anything else in the trial can possibly be.

No one can realize how sorry Mr. Tucker and I feel for Mr. Page and his son.

I hope that the murderer of Mabel Page will some day be found. But to accuse any man of having committed the crime is cruel and unjust.

He is innocent.

How I wish the whole world could know that as well as I do!

But one day will I be proven.

Then people will know that it is more than the fond belief a loving mother has in her child that makes me so positive.

TUCKER STANDARDS DIFFER, SAYS EWELL

Professor Ewell, of Chicago, handwriting expert for the Commonwealth, summed up the testimony of the witnesses and the cross-examination was continued by James H. Vahy.

"When you examined the standards of writing did you make an examination to show the marked characteristics that were not in the Morton note?" "I have a general recollection that I did."

"Did you make a memorandum of what you did?" "No, I haven't any."

"Then you say memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

"Did you make a memorandum to that effect?" "No, I haven't any."

EXPERT PUZZLED BY WORD "STILLED"

"Would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

"What would you say the writing you find in the standards is identical?" asked Mr. Vahy on cross-examination to-day.

Professor Ewell seemed rather amazed at this question, and professed ignorance of what the word "stilled" meant. He said that in his experience as an expert he had never heard the word used, and the only reference that he ever heard of was in a book on the subject of the trial of James H. Vahy.

ALIBI TUCKER RELIES ON SHOWN BY PICTURES.

12.35 TUCKER, SEEN AT HIS HOME BY MRS. WIGGAM NEXT DOOR.

12.45 SEEN AT DIVERSITY STREET BY MRS. GILLEY.

12.50 SEEN ON CHARLES BY SARAH CONNOLLY.

12.55 SEEN AT LINDA WINTON ST. BY DENIS DOYLE.

12.55 TUCKER, SEEN AT HIS HOME BY MRS. WIGGAM NEXT DOOR.

12.45 SEEN AT DIVERSITY STREET BY MRS. GILLEY.

12.50 SEEN ON CHARLES BY SARAH CONNOLLY.

12.55 SEEN AT LINDA WINTON ST. BY DENIS DOYLE.

12.55 TUCKER, SEEN AT HIS HOME BY MRS. WIGGAM NEXT DOOR.

12.45 SEEN AT DIVERSITY STREET BY MRS. GILLEY.

12.50 SEEN ON CHARLES BY SARAH CONNOLLY.

12.55 SEEN AT LINDA WINTON ST. BY DENIS DOYLE.

12.55 TUCKER, SEEN AT HIS HOME BY MRS. WIGGAM NEXT DOOR.

12.45 SEEN AT DIVERSITY STREET BY MRS. GILLEY.

12.50 SEEN ON CHARLES BY SARAH CONNOLLY.

12.55 SEEN AT LINDA WINTON ST. BY DENIS DOYLE.

12.55 TUCKER, SEEN AT HIS HOME BY MRS. WIGGAM NEXT DOOR.

12.45 SEEN AT DIVERSITY STREET BY MRS. GILLEY.

12.50 SEEN ON CHARLES BY SARAH CONNOLLY.

12.55 SEEN AT LINDA WINTON ST. BY DENIS DOYLE.

12.55 TUCKER, SEEN AT HIS HOME BY MRS. WIGGAM NEXT DOOR.

12.45 SEEN AT DIVERSITY STREET BY MRS. GILLEY.

SHERIFFS TOOK JURY TO CHURCH

The twelve good men and true who will decide the fate of Charles L. Tucker, on trial in the East Cambridge court for the murder of Mabel Page, passed a very busy Sunday.

In the morning they were taken to the church of the Assumption, corner of Third and Thacker streets, and in the afternoon were taken by the deputy sheriffs for a walk about the quiet streets of East Cambridge.

These twelve men, who were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

Generally they were given a turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and they were taken to the court house, where they take their meals, five times in the day, they had an opportunity to get the fresh air.

WOMEN STUDY TUCKER

The crowd in the court room listened to the testimony of the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

The women who were called to the stand to-day were the women who were called to the stand to-day.

DISSECTING LETTERS

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

The jury to-day dissected the letters which were found in the room where Mabel Page was murdered.

BABY'S DELIGHT
And Mother's Comfort

Cuticura SOAP

And CUTICURA Ointment, the great Skin Cure.

Not only a purifier, but most effective for preventing, curing and beautifying the skin. Scalp Itch, and all the troubles of infants and children, but they afford instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-wardens itching, and red for itching, scaly, cracked, and pimply skin and scalp humors, eczemas, rashes, and eruptions, with loss of hair, and are sure to succeed when all else fails.

Fits the Pocket, Fits the Cold

—Take a Preventive

Loose Leaf Systems WARD'S
100-110 Franklin St., Boston

Bring All your Legal Stamp Books to

$2.50 worth OF ANY GOODS IN OUR STORE FOR A FULL BOOK

Don't Forget That We Give Legal Double Trading Stamps Tuesday All Day

Butler's Tremont St. Butler's Branch Temple Place

DEATHS.
1894-1904. 100-110 Franklin St., Boston.

[illegible]

